STATIONS OF THE CROSS: Friday, March 6th, following the Stations of the Cross, the Knights of Columbus will host a soup dinner.

ARCHDIOCESE OF SANTA FE - SECOND COLLECTION: A second collection will be taken up next weekend for Catholic Relief Services. So the Archdiocese will not have to ask parishes to take up another collection for the Ebola crisis in Africa, Archbishop Michael Sheehan along with Catholic Charities are encouraging parishioners to be extra generous in donating to this second collection, as this collection will also help with the Ebola crisis in Africa. Please be generous.

YOU DID IT FOR ME: Melvin Ramirez works as a coffee farmer in Nicaragua. Though challenging, he and his family got by--until a disease killed Melvin's plants. With no coffee to sell, he couldn't put food on the table. Catholic Relief Services is helping farmers like Melvin protect and diversify their crops. Now, Melvin's family has a bountiful farm and a more secure future.

LENTEN REFLECTIONS: On his last Good Friday as pope to the Universal Church, Pope Benedict XVI said during his homily: "The readings that have just been proclaimed offer us ideas which, by the grace of God, we are called to transform into a concrete attitude and behavior during Lent." Imagine, thinking the Scriptures can be a guide to what we are to think and to do over these forty days in preparation for Easter and eternity. First of all the Church proposes the powerful appeal which the prophet Joel addresses to the people of Israel, "Thus says the Lord, return to me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping, and with mourning." Not the phrase "with all your heart," which means from the very core of our thoughts and feelings, from the roots of our decisions, choices and actions, with a gesture of total and radical freedom. But is this return to God possible? Yes, because there is a force that does not reside in our hearts, but that emanates from the heart of God and the power of His mercy. But for our hearts to be able to participate in this force that is not "us," we have to be realistic about what is required: This return to God becomes a reality in our lives only when the grace of God penetrates and moves our innermost core, gifting us the power that 'rends the heart.' Once again the prophet proclaims these words from God: 'Rend your hearts and not your garments.' Today in fact, many are ready to 'rend their garments' over scandals and injustices — which are, of course caused by others—but few seem willing to act according to their own 'heart,' their own conscience and their own intentions, by allowing the Lord to transform, renew and convert them. At the same time, conversion is not merely individual because none of it exists wholly apart from the communities in which we live in. We heard: "Blow the horn in Zion! Proclaim a fast, call the assembly! Gather the people, sanctify the congregation, assemble the elderly; gather the children, even infants nursing at the breast: Let the bridegroom leave his room, and the bride her bridal tent." The community dimension is an essential element in faith and Christian life. Christ came "to gather the children of God who are scattered into one." The "we" of the Church is the community in which Jesus brings us together, faith is necessary. It is important to remember and to live this during Lent: we must be aware that the penitential journey cannot be faced alone, but together with many brothers and sister in the Church.

LENTEN PRAYER

Almighty and Everlasting God, You have given the human race Jesus Christ our Savior as a model of humility. He fulfilled Your Will by becoming Man and giving His life on the Cross. Help us to bear witness to You by following His example of suffering and make us worthy to share in His Resurrection.

We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son.
Amen.

Our Father...

MARY, Mother of Jesus, you were Jesus' gift for us from the Cross. He gave you to us as our mother. Intercede for all our needs.

Hail Mary...
Glory be...
