YOU DID IT FOR ME: "Last Winter I was in the Emergency Shelter and could not even remember how I got there," says Jana a homeless mother of two. "I lost my job because of health issues, foreclosed on my home and couldn't even afford rent for my family. All this within six months!" Jana was accepted into the Center for Family Self-Sufficiency and Housing Assistance at Catholic Charities where she was assigned a Case Manager who supports her journey to self-sufficiency. With a little help and time to stabilize herself, Jana has been able to utilize her resources and strengths. She is healthy again and her children are safe and going to school. "Catholic Charities saved me from myself. Thank you!" Q Can you recommend some good books for Lenten spiritual reading?

On more than one occasion, a coach being interviewed about his team—successful or not—will be asked about the next step. The inevitable response includes something about getting back to basics. Reviewing the fundamentals of the sport strengthens performance and builds confidence.

A The best Lenten reading takes us back to the fundamentals. If Lent is the time for the church to be on retreat, then we should focus on the texts that help us deepen our understanding of our faith. Spend time reading one of the Gospels, and use a Scripture commentary to learn all you can about the passion of Jesus. Read about the lives of the saints, especially your patron saint and that of your parish. Perhaps there is some local candidate for sainthood, like Father Walter Ciszek, SJ, who wrote several faith-inspiring books. Finally, you can use the Catechism of the Catholic Church to learn more about the church's teachings and beliefs. The sections on prayer and the Mass are really great reflections and more than one person has commented on how powerful and interesting they are. Focusing on the basics really helps us take another step forward in our faith. We have not only a better understanding of what we believe and practice, but also why we believe. With that belief comes the confidence we need to be better, more faithful witnesses to Christ.

2nd Sunday of Lent

Many of us have buried relatives or friends who have had an impact on our lives. Standing there in the funeral home or meditating at their grave, we can recall what they meant to us, how their words or actions touched us in some way, how what they did gave some shape to the person we are today. Often, it is only years later that we recognize in ourselves some of their own character.

Every year on the Second Sunday of Lent, we hear a version of the story of the transfiguration of Jesus. Matthew, Mark, and Luke each describe the experience in a rather similar fashion. But Luke adds something that the others leave out. As Jesus converses with Moses and Elijah who have appeared alongside Him on the mountain, Luke says that they "spoke of His exodus that He was going to accomplish in Jerusalem." This is pure Lucan theology. Luke constructs his Gospel in such a way that Jesus is on His way to Jerusalem where He will accomplish the fulfillment of His Father's will through his death and resurrection. In doing so, He ushers in the era of the church on which the Holy Spirit is poured out, as a prelude to the triumph of the kingdom of God. For Luke, the exodus of Jesus in Jerusalem is His Passover from death to life in the glory of the Resurrection. The Transfiguration is a glimpse of that glory. In a way, at the top of that mountain, Peter, James, and John were already witnessing what could be the impact of this man in their lives. He was going to change everything. As He has done for us! During Lent we take some time to reflect on what the life and teaching of Jesus means to us. We don't stand at His grave, but at an empty tomb, and recall that the One who passed over from death to life holds that promise for us as well.
