CONGRATULATIONS TO: Emily Brito!

Next Saturday - June 11, Emily will profess a Vow of Fidelity to the Sisters of St. Joseph of Concordia, Kansas to become an agrégée sister. An agrégée (from a French word meaning "attached to" or "aggregated with" pronounce ah-gre-ZHEY) do not take vows of poverty, chastity or obedience. But she will live according to the rules of the Sisters of St. Joseph, and be recognized by the local people and the local Churches as a Sister of St. Joseph. Agrégée sisters profess a vow of fidelity to the congregation, but it is non-canonical, meaning that it is not governed by Church law and is instead a private vow between that sister and the Concordia congregation and is governed by their policies. It also means that the agrégée does not relinquish her finances to the congregation, and the congregation assumes no financial responsibility for her. Agrégée sisters are single Catholic women (who have never been married or are widowed, or who have had their marriage annulled) who commit themselves to active and inclusive love of God and the dear neighbor as expressed in the spirit and spirituality of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Concordia. In almost every aspect, they are viewed as members of the congregation, meaning they have a voice and a vote on congregational issues.

Reception/dinner for Emily will take place on Saturday, June 25 following the 5:00 PM Mass in the Parish Hall. Please come to celebrate this Special Occasion!!!

Q My fiancée and I are planning our wedding for next year. We still have to attend classes and meet with a priest. What should we expect from the classes? Does the priest test us to see if we are ready to be married?

A For many years the church has tried to help couples prepare for marriage. The rising divorce rate, as well as the recognition of marriage as a sacrament, led to the development of Marriage Prep Dialogues and Engaged Encounter Workshops. Both programs are designed to encourage couples to discuss the basic fundamentals of relationship within the context of marriage: communication, finances, sexuality, spirituality and values and goals. Open and honest dialogue, as well as a sense of shared values, can make a big difference in a marriage. The classes are not a "how-to" course, but provide information and encourage commitment as you discuss how you will live your married life.

The married couples in these programs often share their own experiences and information as a guide and example. The priest may give some spiritual insights on how living the sacrament of marriage differs from the legal understanding of marriage. It is not there to test you, but rather to help you cover all the bases and be certain that you and your future spouse are well informed and prepared to take on the responsibilities and commitment of marriage. The goal of marriage is union and love. Openness, honesty, trust, and love are the glue that keeps couples together in a lifetime.

10TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME:

In the very difficult economic times of the last few years, many families found themselves relying on resources that they had never had to utilize in the past. Some households used their retirement savings or tried to sell their homes after a job loss. Others found themselves grateful for unemployment compensation even if it didn't pay all their bills. Some adult children found it necessary to move back in with their parents, while some families found help from a local food pantry or meal program—maybe one to which in better times they actually made donations.

In Sunday's Gospel, the widow from Nain has lost her only son. In the time of Jesus, this was not only a personal loss filled with grief, but also a devastating economic event. There was no one on whom she could rely for support. With her husband gone and now her only son dead, the woman had nothing. She was in the very worst of straits. That is, until Jesus came along. Suddenly, the widow had renewed hope, as her son was raised up and restored to her. Her life could go on. The plight of our neighbors in need today is not so different from that of the widow of Nain. While we might want to have Jesus walk into town and give them their house or their job back, we know that isn't going to happen. But that doesn't mean that something can't happen. Indeed, something should! As the followers of Christ today, we are his presence in this world. When there are people suffering, we are the ones called upon to reach out and help. There might be one or the other among us who actually can offer someone a job, but most of us will help in other ways. It can be as simple as buying one extra item every time we go grocery shopping to donate to the local food pantry. We can all help!
